Membership charge

Red Rope is founded on socialist principles and a concept of sharing. The fee bands are a guide to a minimum subscription. If circumstances permit, such as having no housing costs or a large inheritance, we encourage you to adopt a higher band.

If joining after July 1st, you may reduce your fee to 50% of the annual fee listed

Red Rope charges are based on your relevant income, as follows:-
1. Work out your total income from all sources. Include interest on savings, rent from lodgers/sub-tenants and all personal benefits, including child benefit and tax credit. Include housing benefit up to £75 per week (£325 a month).
2. If your income varies from month to month, total the relevant income for the past three months and divide by thirteen (for weekly figure) or three (for monthly income).
3. Then deduct tax and National Insurance contributions (but not pension contributions, SAYE, mortgage repayments etc.)
4. If you have dependents, e.g. children, one parent/carer per family may deduct a further £20 per week (£87 per month) from their income.
5. Then find your band and your charge for a year's membership.

I recognise that hill walking, climbing and mountaineering are activities which carry a risk of personal injury or death. I accept responsibility for my own actions and involvement in these activities.

I accept also that my personal details may be used for postal and email communications from the club about forthcoming events, club information and for administrative purposes. In particular, your name and address will be shared with the British Mountaineering Council or Mountaineering Council of Scotland for affiliation and club insurance purposes. Your details will not be used otherwise without your permission.
